THE LUTE PLAYER.

She was a lady great and splendid,
I was a minstrel in her halls.
A warrior like a prince attended,
Stay'd his steed by the castle walls.

Far had he fared to gaze upon her.
"O rest thee now, Sir Knight," she said.
The warrior wooed, the warrior won her;
In time of snowdrops they were wed.
I made sweet music in his honour,
And longed to strike him dead.

I pass'd at midnight from her portal,
Throughout the world till death I rove.
Ah, let me make this lute immortal,
With rapture of my hate and love!

Sir William Watson.

To his friend, JOHN MARTIN, this Song is inscribed by the Composer in affection.
